Board Reviews School Evaluation

An evaluation committee from the State Board of Education has notified the Appomattox County School Board that the county high school self study is "among the best they have received." Details and comments on the self-evaluation were among many items on a crowded agenda for the School Board meeting Friday afternoon.

Supt. Earl Smith told the board that the evaluation committee said there are "numerous indications of teamwork" among the teachers, that "teacher morale is good" and that the report shows good use of facilities and a good course of studies offered students.

Supt. Smith said that sometimes the very creditable achievements of local high school graduates do not receive much publicity. He stated that 42 of last year's graduates were accepted by the college of their first choice. Board chairman Dr. R. H. Gray said that two recent alumni have recently been accepted by Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity.

Dr. A. A. Fratrick, reading from the evaluation report, asked about plans for speech, drama, journalism and art courses in the new school. Supt. Smith said that an art department is being planned and director of instruction Eugene W. Poyton said that plans are being studied to concentrate speech, drama and journalism into separate six-week segments, incorporating all into one course.

Acting on suggestions from the evaluation committee, the board reviewed the possibility of two eleven-month guidance counselors, one for the Intermediate School and one for the high school.

Quick Jump Saves Life

Quick thinking on the part of a Norfolk and Western brakeman undoubtedly saved his life Tuesday afternoon when the first of 15 cars loaded with sand toppled over the edge of the loading wharf at J. E. Sears and Co. The brakeman, riding the right hand side of the car at the left (above) dropped to the ground as the car slipped over the edge, emerging with only black soot and grease to show his narrow escape. Sears' personnel say damage to the wharf and N&W car was quite extensive. According to bystanders, the engine had already been detached from the cars and the two loaded cars were being "kicked back" and going too fast to be braked correctly. Leslie Webber, yard foreman at Sears says he overheard two trainmen say, "We'll never do that again."

Abbitt Announces Retirement At End Of Congressional Term

Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt

24-Year Veteran Of 4th District

Fourth District representative Watkins M. Abbitt, Democrat, of Appomattox, announced Friday he will retire from Congress at the end of his term this year.

The Appomattox congressman's retirement was seen as a move that will simplify the General Assembly's pressing reapportionment problem.

The 1971 legislative act that redistricted Virginia's 10 congressional seats was held unconstitutional Wednesday, Mar. 1 by a three-judge federal court because of population disparities which violated the one-man, one-vote doctrine.

Rep. Abbitt released the following statement Friday afternoon from his Washington office:

"Sometime ago I made a firm decision not to offer for reelection but did not make a public announcement as I did not want to do anything that might adversly affect the redistricting case. The case is now completed and I feel it the proper time to make the announcement.

"I am pleased that the General Assembly is to make the new redistricting. As representatives of the people of Virginia I feel they will make a fair and proper apportionment of the districts.

"I have enjoyed representing the people of our district over the past twenty-four years. I shall be eternally grateful for the cooperation, help, assistance and loyalty given me by the overwhelming majority of the people of the district. I have had a wonderful staff of dedicated, hardworking, efficient employees who have been vitally interested in looking after the welfare of our district and to whom I am deeply indebted. I hope and expect to retain an active interest in the public affairs of the Commonwealth.

"I am not unmindful of the many, many people who have urged me to offer for re-election again and I do not want to appear ungrateful but having served over twenty-four years in the Congress I feel it is not unreasonable for me to want to retire. I have always felt it is better to retire while one is able to render full service and appears to be carrying out his duties in a satisfactory manner.

"I take this means of expressing my heartfelt thanks to our people and those who have supported me so loyally in the past and those who have urged me to continue in service. I am also very appreciative of the offer of support in the newarea of the Fourth district that has just been declared unconstitutional. This was heartwarming to me indeed.

New Cancellation In Use

Appomattox Postmaster H. W. (Billy) Conner and Park Supt. F. A. Gould display the "National Park Centennial Year' cancellation which can be found on all letters mailed from Appomattox for the next six months. The cancellation commemorates the naming of Yellowstone National Park as a national park, first in the world, on March 1, 1872.

For the next six months letters mailed from Appomattox will bear a special cancellation slogan which says "National Park Centennial Year 1872-1972." Appomattox thus joins approximately 180 other post offices located near National Parks commemorating the beginning of the national park system in this way.

The Appomattox post office has not had a special cancellation slogan since 1965 and the Civil War Centennial cancellation.

Appomattox Court House National Historical Park superintendent F. A. Gould and postmaster H. W. (Billy) Conner cooperated with arrangements for this newest cancellation. The National Park Service is sponsor for the cancellation. According to Conner regulations for the use of cancellations are rather strict. This cancellation qualifies because it is a national commemoration, marking the proclamation by President U. S. Grant on March 1, 1872 making Yellowstone National Park the first national park in the world.

Supt. Gould pointed out that it was especially significant that Appomattox should have the special cancellation inasmuch as it was General U. S. Grant who met at Appomattox only seven years before the National Park proclamation to arrange terms of surrender with General Robert E. Lee, thus bringing an end to the War Between the States.
